

The British Spaceplane Ascender is one of many privately funded space planes still on the drawing board. If completed, it would carry passengers to the edge of space and back.

2

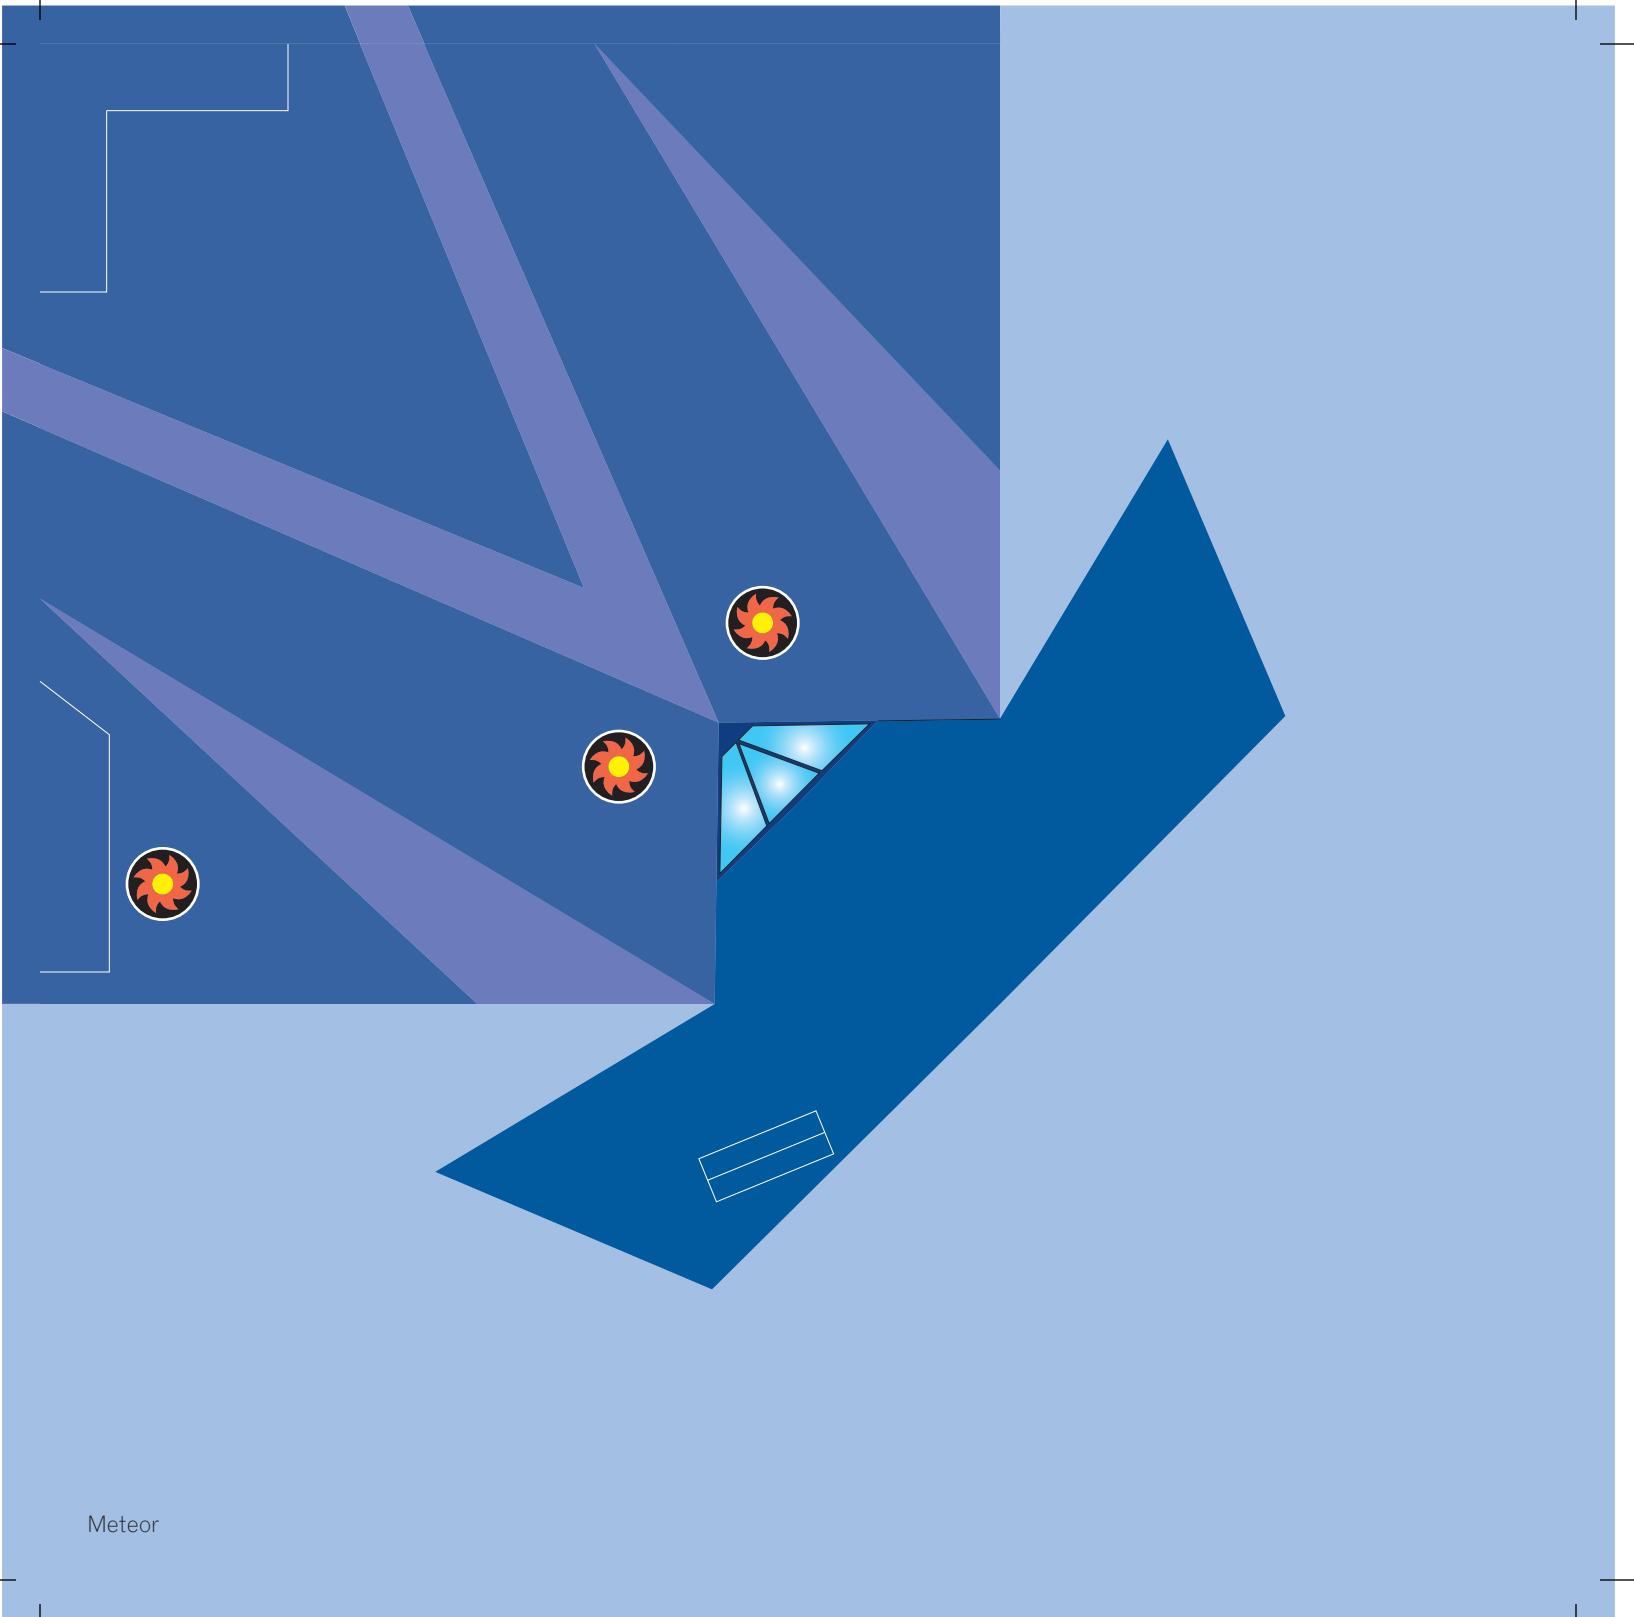

1

11

12

14

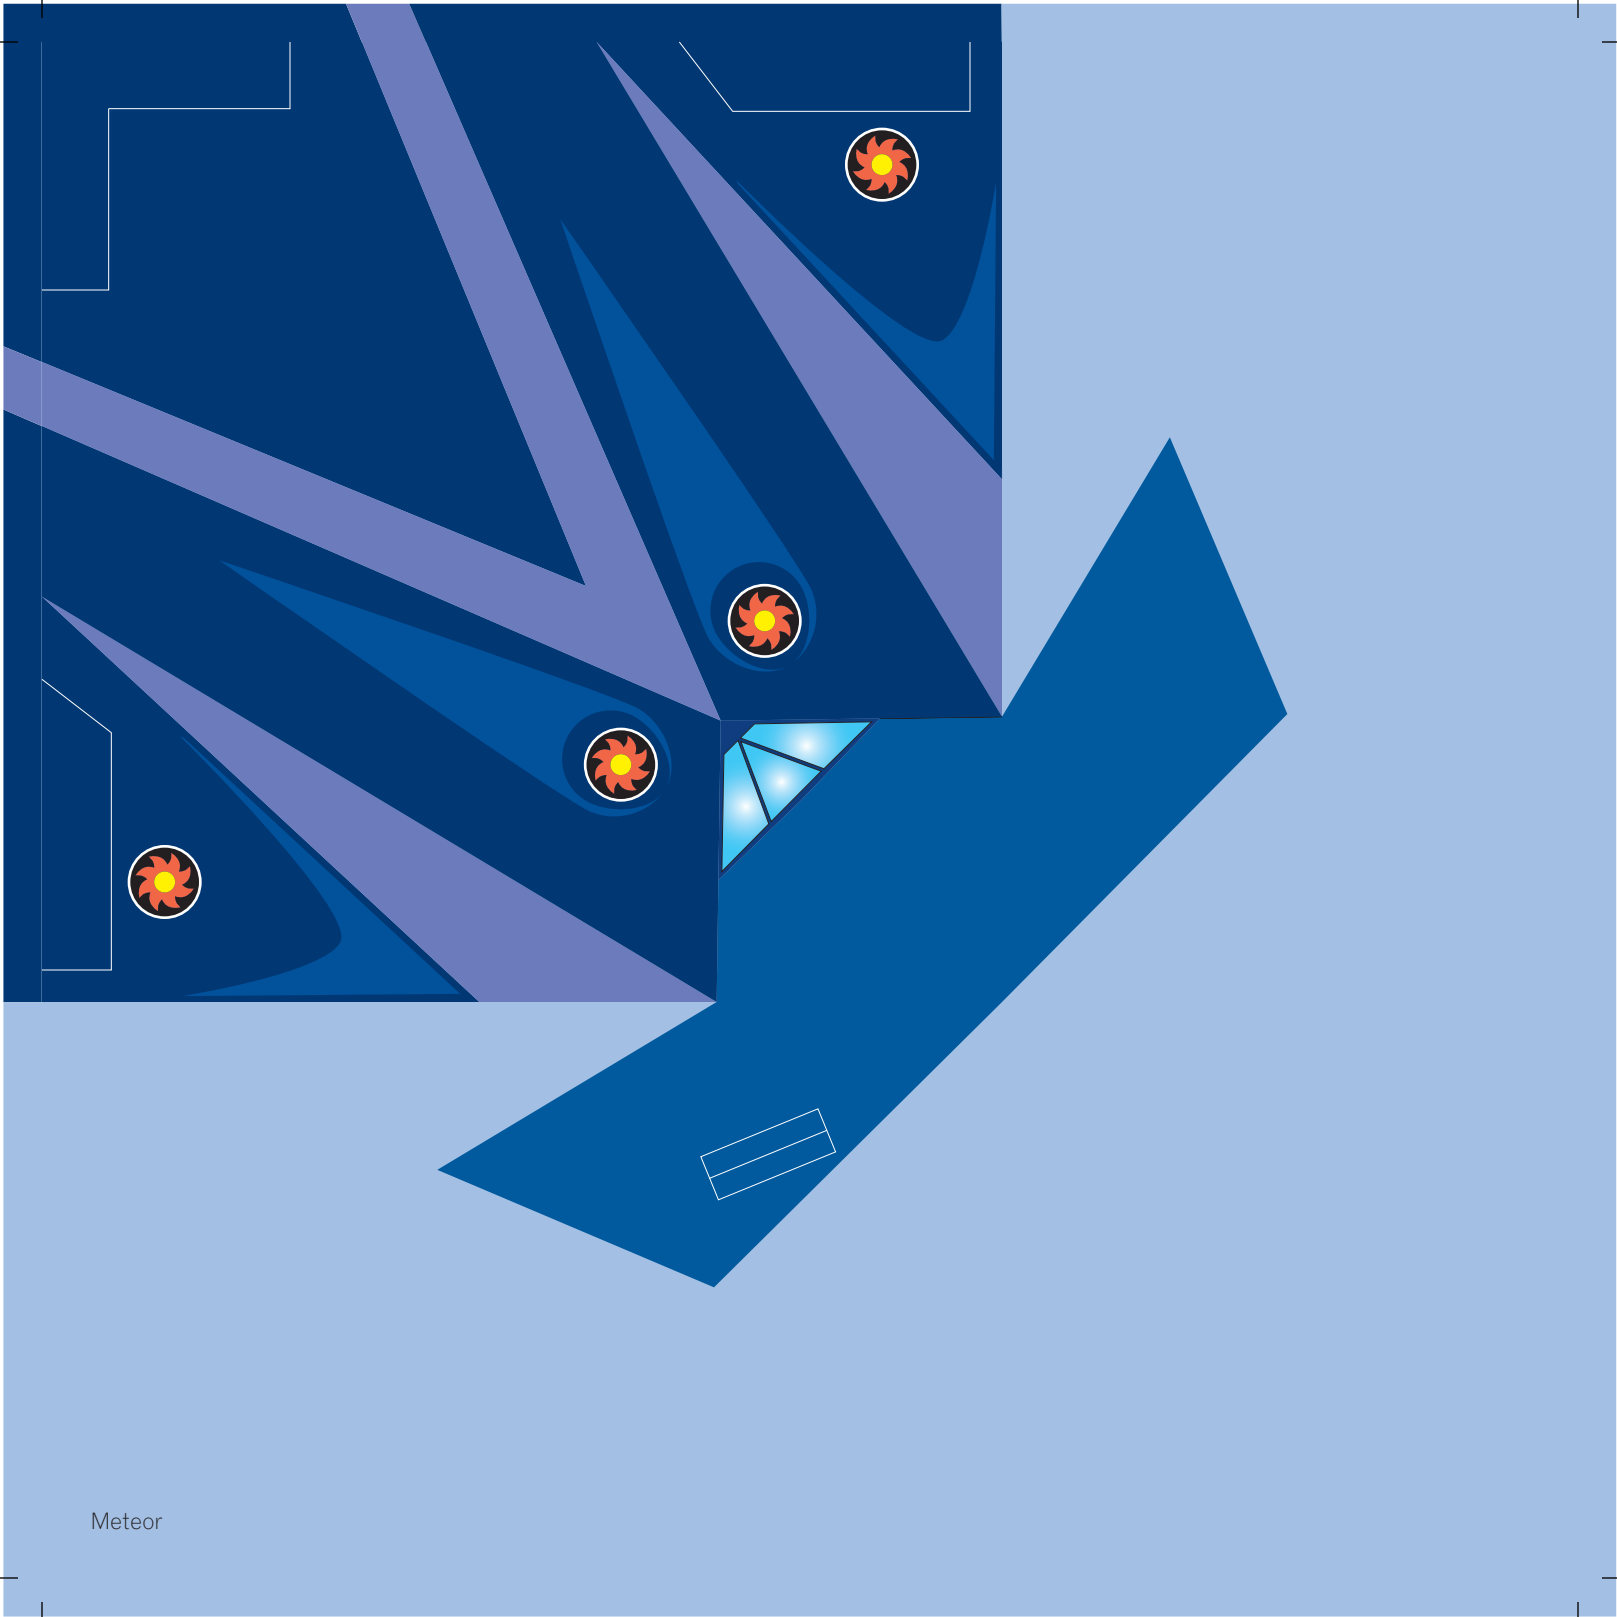

13

Meteor

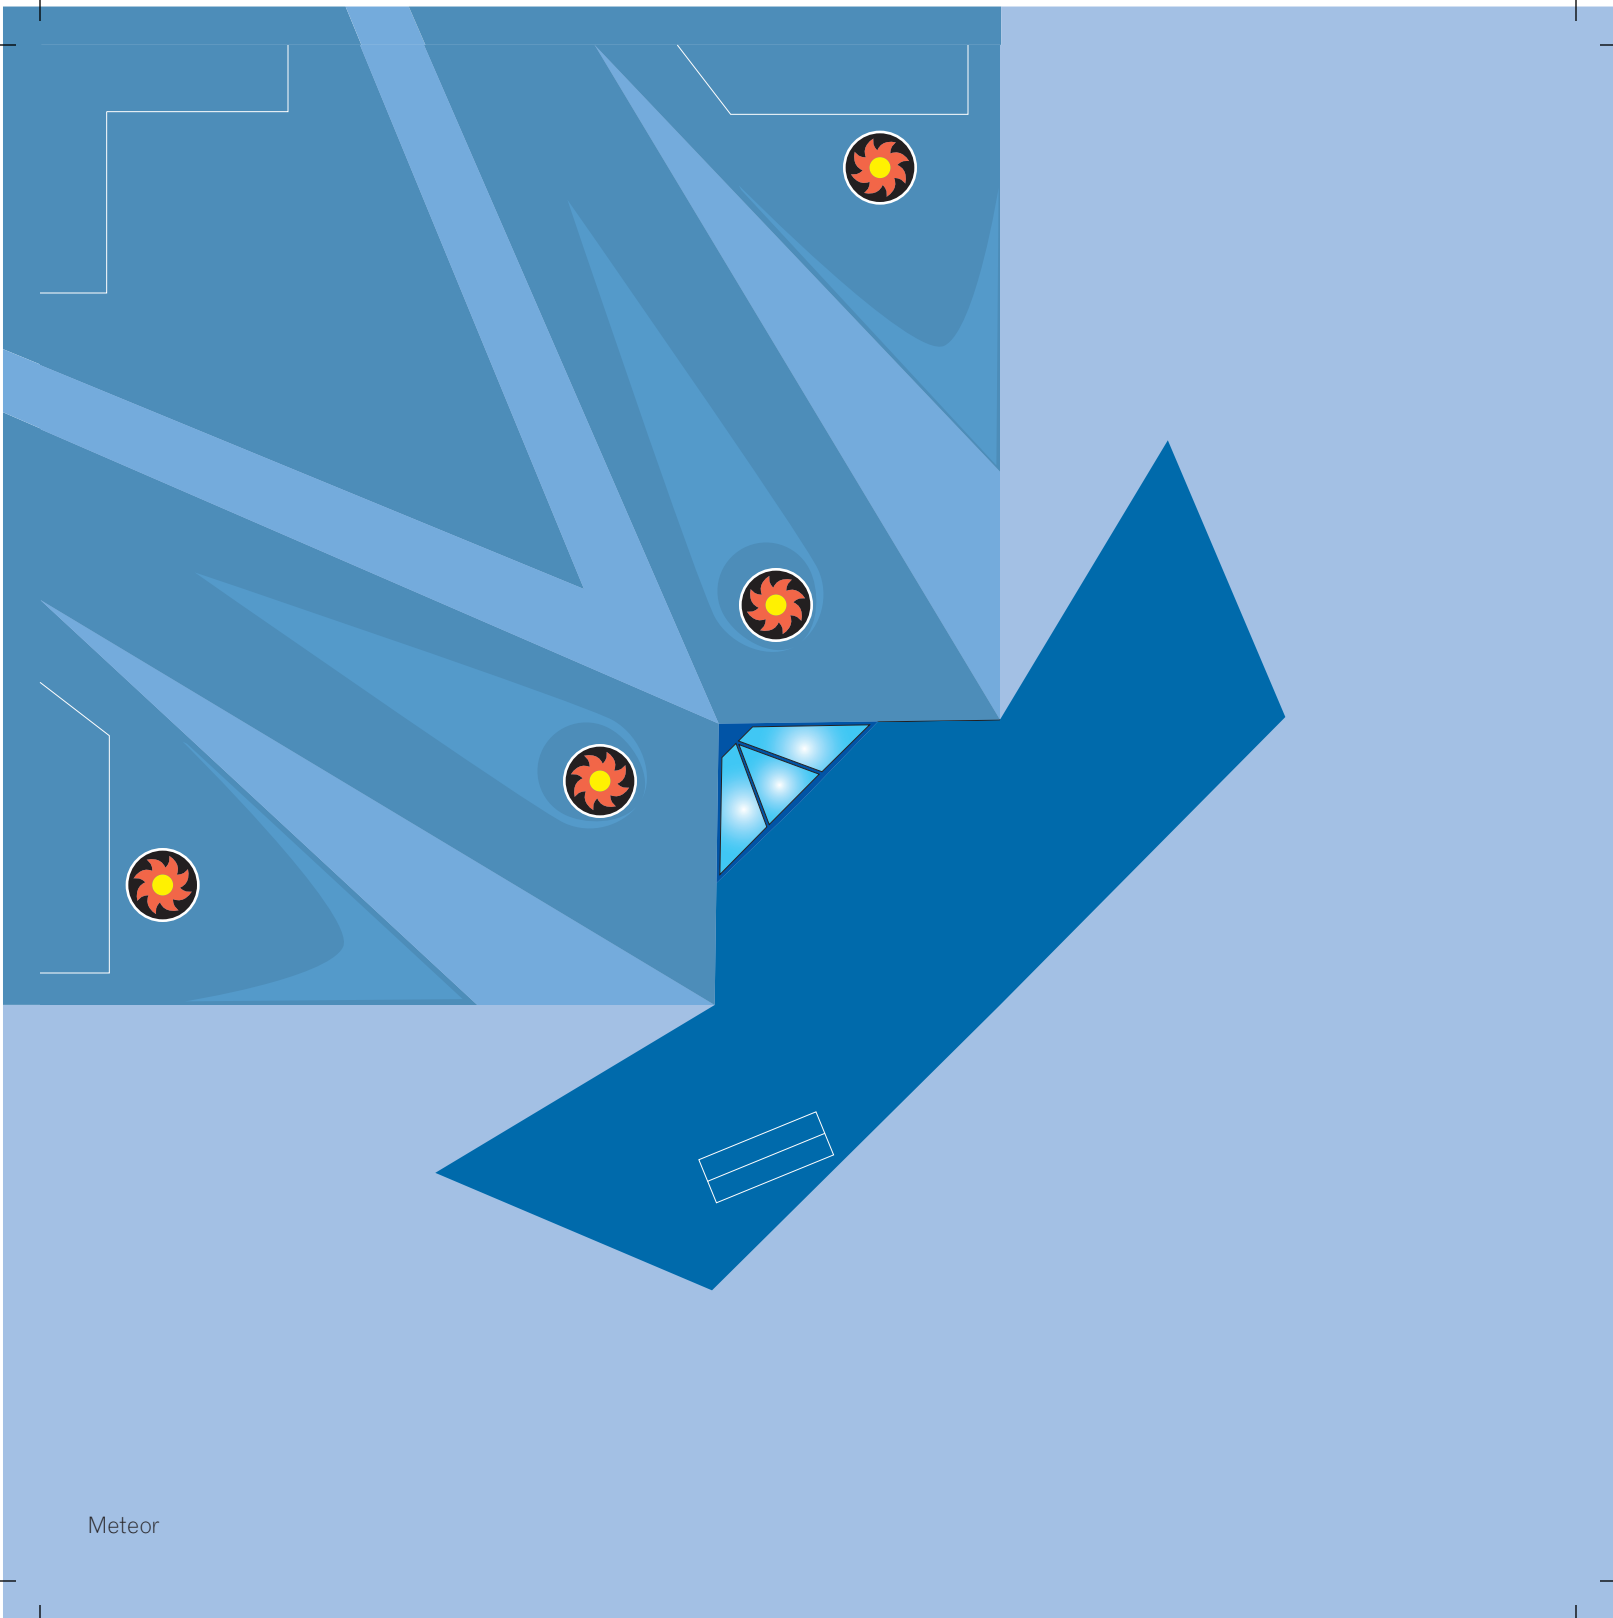

The British Spaceplane Ascender is one of many privately funded space planes still on the drawing board. If completed, it would carry passengers to the edge of space and back.

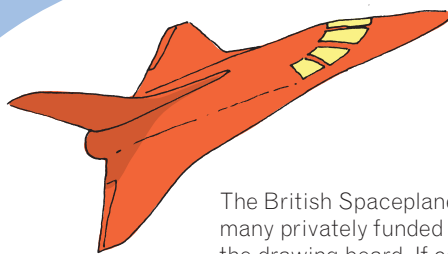

Meteor

The British Spaceplane Ascender is one of many privately funded space planes still on the drawing board. If completed, it would carry passengers to the edge of space and back.

Meteor

The British Spaceplane Ascender is one of many privately funded space planes still on the drawing board. If completed, it would carry passengers to the edge of space and back.